Teagan turned the pebble over in her palm as she thought. "I wish Declan and his pot of gold to be safe from ...m." A spiral of gold dust whirled around the little leprechaun and his pot of gold. Declan threw his arms around Teagan's legs and squeezed in gratitude.

"It is done," Cú Chulainn said. "And because you were so selfless with your wish, you get another one."

"I wish to always be friends with magical folks like leprechauns and giants." Teagan hoped that wish would lead to many more adventures.
