Soft chiming sounded, and when Helena looked up from the water, her mouth ed open at the glittering kingdom that came into view on the other side of the .

"The faeries need a leader," Sylphira said. "That role belongs to you." The unicorn offered her back to Helena again, and she climbed on. Sylphira galloped across Mirror Lake, scenes of a celebratory welcome playing out on the water's surface as they traveled. When they reached land again, great trumpets sounded and a procession of faeries greeted Helena and Sylphira. The faeries guided them to a silver castle, and they all bowed to their new faerie queen, Queen Helena.

Helena ruled the faeries with her trusty unicorn, Sylphira, for centuries. She never once thought of her former life as a chambermaid.
