Frogs are considered one of the most adaptable species in the world, since they have roamed the Earth for the past 190 million years. They can survive on land and in water, and there is at least one species of frog virtually anywhere fresh water can be found. Frogs, like all amphibians, are cold-blooded animals, so their body temperature changes as the temperature in their environment changes.

Ways to Use Task Cards

1. Centers
2. Scoot: Pass out one card for each student. Set a timer and say, "scoot!" when the timer goes off. Students move seats to the next card. They continue to rotate until they are back at their original seat.
3. Scavenger Hunt: Hide cards around the room. Students search for cards and answer them.
4. Jenga: Number Jenga blocks. Students stack the blocks, then take turns pulling blocks. Students answer the corresponding number card.
5. Whole class practice: Teacher displays card on the projector. Students answer on mini white boards.
6. Exit Tickets: Give each student a task card at the end of the lesson. Have them answer on a sticky note.

Amazing Amphibian:

The Frog

Did you know?

There is a species of frog called the Australian water-holding frog that can survive without water for up to 7 years. It does so by burrowing underground and surrounding itself in a cocoon made of skin it has shed.

Frogs are considered one of the most adaptable species in the world, since they have roamed the Earth for the past 190 million years. They can survive on land and in water, and there is at least one species of frog virtually anywhere fresh water can be found. Frogs, like all amphibians, are cold-blooded animals, so their body temperature changes as the temperature in their environment changes.
