Answering Questions ?

I don't mean to pat myself on the back, but I was a video game expert. It was my favorite thing to do. That is until the aliens came. The little green creatures spilled out of the spacecraft in my backyard. I couldn't believe it. They said they wanted to learn how Earthlings have fun. I was on it! I brought out my tablet, my computer, even my TV, but they were not interested. They said they already had all of those things. They were more interested in toys, real toys. I scratched my head. I had lots of toys, but they had been collecting dust because I only played on my computer. I pulled out a ball and showed them how to use it. They loved it, and so did I! We did sidewalk chalk, blew bubbles, and I even taught them to ride a bike. "I forgot how much fun playing with actual toys is," I thought out loud. Forget video games! Playing with real things is way more fun!
