Multi-Grade

MEGA BUNDLE

3rd grade MEGA BUNDLE

nonfiction COMPREHENSION BUNDLE

2nd & 3rd grade

fiction COMPREHENSION BUNDLE

Print & Digital

4th grade MEGA BUNDLE

nonfiction COMPREHENSION BUNDLE

4th grade

fiction COMPREHENSION BUNDLE

Print & Digital

COMPREHENSION PASSAGES all stars

Magi CORE

"I-I'm not scared of you," Sally whispered into the dark, but she knew she was lying.

Sally was sure that there was a monster hiding in the darkness, but she had no idea what to do. She glanced down and spotted her nightlight sitting on the ground. Her hand shook as she reached down to grab it. She was about to touch it when the floor creaked as the monster stepped towards her. Sally yelped and yanked her blanket over her head.

Sally took deep breathes as she stayed safely under her blanket. She knew the monster d continue to come after her if she didn't do something that night. Sally decided that no r what, she would plug in her nightlight. The nightlight would help defeat the monster.

Sally lifted the blanket off her head and gasped. Two scary eyes stared at her from in f her closet, which was now open. Sally held in her scream as she reached over for her ; but it was gone! The monster snickered as Sally pulled back. With no nightlight, Sally w how to defeat the monster.

dea popped into her head. She looked the sky. Sally peered back at her b g nightlight. Her room didn't look s lowly began to fade away.

right. I'm not scared anymore," noon's light will protect me whil

hat Sally wasn't afraid anymo

nuggled beneath her blanket. S

Compare & Contrast

600L

Name: _____ Date: _____

The Monster of Oak Crescent: The Sleepover Nightmare

It was a great day for Sally Daxton as she prepared for a sleepover at her best friend's house across the street. She packed her pajamas and toothbrush into her backpack and strolled over to Carly Jackson's home. Before she could even knock, Carly yanked open the door and gave Sally a big hug.

"I'm so excited for our sleepover!" Carly exclaimed, dragging her best friend inside.

For the rest of the day, Carly and Sally played with their toys, watched silly movies, and played hide-and-seek. When it was time for bed, Carly and Sally curled up together on the bed and told each other spooky stories. After her story scared Carly silly, it was Carly's turn to come up with something. When she got to the scary monster part, Carly suddenly stopped speaking.

"Carly, keep telling the story," Sally muttered, but Carly shook her head. "Why not? It was just starting to get scary!"

Carly wasn't listening to her friend anymore. Instead, her eyes were glued to the dark bedroom corner. Suspecting that her friend feared the dark, Sally flicked on the lights. Carly screamed as she pointed to the corner.

"I'm not afraid of the dark. I'm afraid of spiders!" Carly screamed as she began crying. "The spiders are coming out of the walls!"

Compare & Contrast

620L

Name: _____ Date: _____

The Monster of Oak Crescent: Sally's Fear

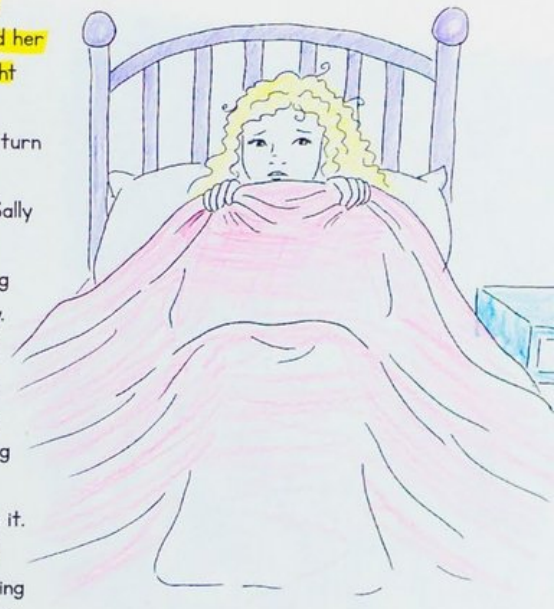

Oak Crescent was a pleasant neighborhood where everyone was friends, but it also held a very dark secret. Sally Daxton lived in the corner house, and she loved living there. S loved her home and loved that her friends lived across the street from her.

As nighttime came, Sally's parents tucked her into bed, kissed her goodnight, and closed the door. Sally smiled down at her nightlight that glowed next to her bed. Although s was eight years old, she was still afraid of the dark. The nightlight always made her feel better because it pushed away the scary darkness.

As Sally began to fall asleep, she suddenly heard a quiet click inside her bedroom. Sally opened her eyes to find it dark. Her nightlight had somehow clicked off! Sally gasped as she reached down to turn it back on, but it wasn't there.

"W-Where did you go?" Sally stuttered, but she covered her mouth when she heard something snicker from somewhere nearby.

Her bedroom was so dark that she couldn't see where the snicker had come from, but she knew she wasn't alone. Something was hiding in her room, and it cared her that she couldn't see it. she sat on her bed, she could eel it shake and stir like something was crawling out from underneath. Sally gulped as she pulled the covers closer to her chin.

Milo's heart melted when he saw a lab mix that was slobbering all over his

"This is Annie," the man told Milo. "Annie was a stray dog. When we got her, she very sick, but she is healthy now."

Milo grabbed Annie's leash and took her for a stroll around the corner. Annie was very obedient. She walked right next to Milo and gave him kisses. Milo immediately with Annie. He knew that his father would never let him keep her. He felt he left the pet store without Annie.

Milo went home with his father. He felt so up had a safe and loving home. Milo talked ab didn't seem willing to budge. Th

After a few da

home from

wa

"V

He op

Milo couldn't b

his face in slobbe

"I decided th

Milo. "It will b

"I r

Characters and Challenges Name: Date:

Milo and Annie

580L

Milo was ambling through the town center shopping center with his dad when he ed cages with dogs and cats set outside the pet shop.

"Dad, can we go see the dogs?" Milo begged.

"Sure, Milo," replied his dad.

Milo grabbed his dad's hand as they crossed the street and walked toward the pet hop. The dogs' tails wagged in eagerness as Milo and his dad approached their

The man sitting with the dogs and cats greeted Milo and his dad. He told them about is pet rescue organization. He rescued dogs and cats that no one adopted at the shelters, d he saved stray dogs and cats.

"Would you like to walk a dog?" the man asked Milo.

"Yes! May I please, Dad?" Milo pleaded.

"I guess there is no harm in walking one, but we cannot adopt one, Milo," his dad said

ly.

6. What trait c

your answer.

Milo is ve

Annie lick

home

7. How did the

In the

was respo

his parent

knew he

hat steps di

lo talke

parents die

nge

yellow

eel

t so so

Anni

gree

gs

Narwhals

Size of narwhal compared to a human