The Magic Song Vines

Many years ago, there were two brother princes, Aron and Neav. Aron was one year older than Neav and heir to their father's throne. But Neav wanted to be king. He didn't want his brother's blood on his hands though, so he found a spell and trapped Aron in a mirror. While Aron could see and hear what happened outside the mirror, no one could see him inside it.

Neav kept the mirror in his chamber. Each night he stood before it and told Aron about all the awful plans he had for the kingdom once he was king.

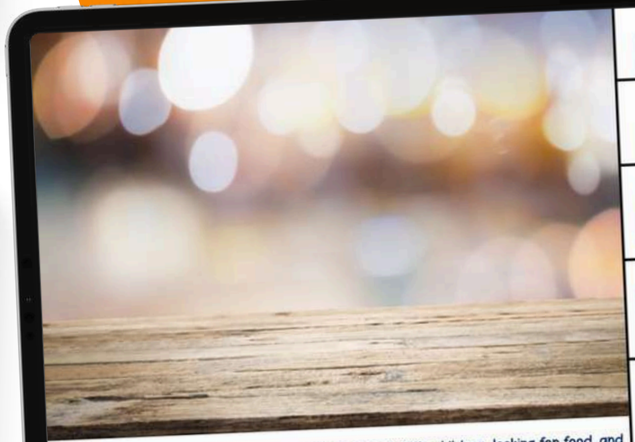

Aron was in agony knowing he couldn't do anything from inside the mirror to stop his brother's evil plans. He pounded his fists against the mirror, but it never broke. He yelled from his side, but no one ever heard him. He searched for another way out, but none existed.

How would he ever fulfill his destiny to be the true king if he remained trapped? Would he always be alone inside that mirror, never to know the company of his family, his friends, and the kingdom's people? Most importantly, would he have to watch his brother rule with evil intentions from inside this mirror forever?

Worried about all these matters and more, Aron's heart became full of despair. Then, one day, he heard the most beautiful singing, like the voice of an angel. Aron raced to the mirror and found a lovely maid tidying Neav's chamber. Her song was more melodious than any bird Aron had ever heard, more cheerful than any flute that ever played, more hopeful than any dream.

Quite possibly the best purchase I've made since using TPT 7 years ago. Kids love it. Teacher loves it. It is a win win. Super easy to use for both teacher and student. Highly recommend.
